ACS, Vigillo partner to offer expanded compliance solutions

The Trucker News Services

9/15/2010

DALLAS — Affiliated Computer Services Inc., a Xerox company, said Wednesday it will expand its capabilities to provide safety and compliance data for drivers and fleets through a partnership with Portland, Ore.-based Vigillo,

Vigillo currently provides over 1,900 carriers with complex data and statistics through at-a-glance driver and carrier scorecards that present valuable safety information, including CSA 2010 reports.

The partnership with ACS and Vigillo is designed to build upon the services that both organizations currently offer fleets. These services include hours of service information, overall safety scorecards, and intervention workflow for at-risk drivers who need extra training or development through e-learning applications, counseling or medical interventions.

"To meet the needs of our customers and the industry, ACS explored many partnership ideas. In the end, Vigillo offered the most comprehensive CSA information available in the industry," said Kelley Walkup, division vice president and general manager for ACS. "By partnering with Vigillo, ACS is now positioned to bring an end-to-end compliance solution to the market that not only provides the required data and information for CSA, but also provides fleets an unprecedented solution to manage their safety and driver compliance in one system."

Added Steven Bryan, Vigillo's chief executive officer, "The ACS vision for an integrated safety and compliance product that incorporates all of the critical elements of driver recruitment, log auditing, driver qualification files, and CSA intervention workflow, combined with Vigillo's best of class CSA data analytics will set a new standard in the industry."

The partnership's comprehensive safety and compliance solution is scheduled to be ready for market this fall.
